

Women's Navy Uniform Sizing Chart

Do you know what women's uniforms come in 3 different body types: Junior (J), Misses (M) and Women's (W)? Junior is 2" lower in the hip than the misses and 4" smaller than the women's. They also come in 3 heights to complete your height: petite (5'3½" and under), regular (5'3½" - 5'7") and tall (5'7" and above).

DETERMINE YOUR BEST SIZE:
 Have a sister friend or friend take your measurements as described below. For example a 12M has the following measurements: Bust: 37½", Waist: 29½", Hip: 41". In the example above, if the 12M hip is too big, determine the best size to order. If the waist is too big, order the next size. If the bust is too big, order a 12JR or a 12WR. If the waist is too big, order the next size. If the bust is too big, order a 12JR or a 12WR.

TABLES

Size designations are related to body measurements: Chest and waist for men; bust, waist and hip for women. Lengths are based on height measurements. For example, a man with a 38-inch chest and 5 feet 8 inches tall wears a 38 regular while another man with a 38-inch chest and 6 feet tall wears a 38 long.

The length is determined by the man's height as shown in Table I. Scale does not work for a sailor that has a long torso and short legs. Care should be taken by the fitters to fit each article of clothing separately.

The following table should be consulted for information on the unit measures that will most closely fit the body measurements listed.

TABLE I. HEIGHT SCALE*

Extra Extra Long	6 ft 6 in. to 6 ft 9 in.	42 to 46	5 ft 10 in. to 5 ft 12 in.	40 to 44

*Units are based on measurements taken in accordance with the height scale, stated in Table I. For women's measurements, use the measurements for the man's (woman's) chest and waist.
